HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ALL!!!!!!

Welcome to the New Year Bumper edition of Rash Hag. In fact I received so much that I've had to hold some of it back until next month - thank you very much! Inside you will find the stats for the last five years, plus the Pub Popularity Parade, the Superlatives and a full list of runs for 1997 (corrected - sorry Rockhopper!) All stats run up to and including Run no. 231. I haven't included future pubs unlike last year, as venues have a habit of changing! In the case of A to B runs, B is counted, not A (i.e. where the trail actually ends). For individual stats (which start at Run no. 91, when I joined QH3), the number of Runs you do is counted, not the number of venues you turn up to.

Some people suggested additional categories for the superlatives, some of which I have included, as well as the ones you voted on, and the ones there's little controversy over. Maybe all of these will be carried forward until next year(?) See inside to find out more...

There is a new feature on the Inside Back Page - the Composite Hash Guide. There are now at least 5 runs a month somewhere in the Nottingham / Leicester area, and Every Sunday is now a Hash Day!! By the End of March, there will be hashes Every Sunday and Most Mondays somewhere in the Nottingham / Derby / Leicester triangle - averaging 7 or 8 a month. Simple!!

Note the change of venue for the next run - it will now be the Forest Gate, Loughborough, and not the Griffin. There is a map inside this mighty organ. The last torchlight run this winter will be the 20 a Day run from the Marquis of Lorne, Radford (again), when we will be visiting (and sampling) some of Nottingham's rich fag-making tradition.

Next Rash Hag: Run no. 237 (Sun 1st March)
Deadline: Tuesday 24th February 1998
Address: 4 Clifton Crescent, Attenborough, Nottingham NG9 6DA
Hareline: 0115 922 6050 (24-hour ansaphone always giving details of next run)

Just when you thought it was safe to go to the toilet...

In Germany, a woman went to a portaloo in Munich and emerged 400 miles away in Hamburg. Trouble started when secretary Magda Schmidt, 41, ignored the "No Longer in Service" sign on the door of the portaloo and went inside to relieve herself. What she didn't know was that the loo had been scheduled for removal that very day, and even as she was sitting therein a large crane arrived and lifted it onto the back of a truck. Mrs Schmidt's screams went unheard, while the chain secured around the loo to lift it meant she was unable to force open the door. The toilet, with Mrs Schmidt inside, was subsequently taken to a storage facility where it remained for two days before being driven north to Hamburg, where it was deposited on a street corner and where its occupant's moans were finally heard. "It's ironic", said a dismayed Mrs Schmidt, "Because I'm always going on at my husband for spending too long in the toilet".

In Britain, jelly sales have plummeted as people switch to more exotic desserts. "The market's a bit shaky," said one manufacturer.

A new formula 1 team were preparing for the new season and they were testing out for a team to do the pit changes. The test was the quickest time to take off all four wheels of a Formula 1 car.

The first guy picked up the pneumatic tool and with a quick bzzzzz bzzzzz bzzzzz the job was done, my god thats impressive said the team leader, 10.5 seconds where did you learn to work at that speed. oh he said I thought I would be quicker I've been with Arrows for thr last two years.

Up stepped the next guy, he was even more impressive, he moved so quickly that he managed the job in 9 seconds, the team leader said he was amazed at the standard of the people and asked him about his background. I've had three years at Bennetton so I thought I could beat the other chap.

The next to last guy had an economy of movement that made the job look easy, and his result was 7.5 seconds. Great said the tester I can't see anyone beating that it looks like the jobs yours. Where do you come from. Six years experience with Maclaren two with Ferrari he said.

The final guy looked a mess, you might as well have a go said the team leader, so away he went.

BzzzzBzzzzBzzzzBzzzz there just wasn't a break in sound and the wheels were all off in 5.5 seconds as he moved like greased lightning.

Wow what a performance where do you come from. I'm from Hyson Green duck, I could have done it quicker but you haven't got any bricks.

THE TWELVE HOURS OF HASH-MAS

(18:00) On the first hour of hash-mas, my scribe wrote about me...

'Hashers in a bowling alley...'

The first venue for the evenings events were the hallowed lanes of the Superbowl in the centre of Leicester, for a game of ten-pin...meet at six...Well G.P.S and his brother (Nik), Blow! and his mirror image (Rob), turned up on the crack of six, and there was a multitude of other people already congregating there, just that none of them happened to be Hashers...

...Best place to wait...the bar! 10...15...20...pints, sorry, got a bit carried away there, 20 minutes later and we decided to have a game, specially as Mudflaps had turned up...nearly on time as well, then again I s'pose the Archers wasn't on...

...The game began, and with two of Musflaps's students joining in, it made a fairly good challenge...the challenge being not calling 'Harriet' Mudflaps, as requested, but then again fancy asking a group of Hashers to do that, specially when drunk, a fatal mistake...

(19:00) On the second hour of hash-mas, my scribe wrote about me...

'Two toppled pins' & 'Hashers in a bowling alley...'

During the match, that was in full swing by this time...scores remaining an absolute secret...for the sake of honour...the rest of the party turned up...Too Tuf, approached my twin brother in the bar, and greeted him with "Blow!", what my brother thought of this proposition I'd hate to think, but he returned from the bar rather sharpish...

...After a few introductions, we cracked on with the game, with most of my shots being taken by either Showman, Mudsucker, Too tuf, Whimpy, Twonk, Rab C, etc...basically anyone but myself, but who gave a damn, except the owners, as everyone must have had black sole shoes on that night...most of which was left on the floor... but we were long gone...the only record they had of us being there was the receipt of payment, paid by...cheers Mudflaps...

(20:00) On the third hour of hash-mas, my scribe wrote about me... 'Mixture of dens', 'Two toppled pins' & 'Hashers in a bowling alley...' ...So began the pub crawl...and a matter of a hundred feet later, and we were in the first pub...The Cherry Tree...apparently one of Showman & Mudsucker's old haunts...the beer flowed...the music rang out...and for some reason all the Norfolk Hashers disappeared...last seen heading for the comfy seats of the lounge...must be getting old, or infirm, or was it that that was the longest trail they've done this year, and needed to sit down...

...The trail carried on to the deepest darkest parts of the City...to a cross-roads, obviously time for a holding check, we'd already lost G.P.S & Nik by this time, but then again there is no surprise there...

...The problem that lay in front of us was that of the three 'Dens' of iniquity that lay in our path, and which to choose...'The Fourpence & firkin', great beer, 'O'Neils', great pub and great beer, and 'The Globe', great scott why did we choose that one...small, compact, weak beer, and all the women had to keep brushing closely by us...so okay it had one advantage...

(21:00) On the forth hour of hash-mas, my scribe wrote about me... 'Two third', 'Mixture of dens', 'Two toppled pins' & 'Hashers in a bowling alley...'

...Within the realms of this quaint public house the centre of attraction soon became Mudflaps, well her shoe laces to be more accurate, and what seemed to be the precise surgical removal of them from her trainer, along with her sock, which obviously must have just got in the way...

...Outside the den of iniquity, Pleasure Gnome took a deep liking to my coat...so we decided to have a 'swapsies', but on reflection I believe that she had the better deal, as all my credit cards were in the pocket of my coat...

(22:00) On the fifth hour of hash-mas, my scribe wrote about me... 'Streets of Leicester bring', 'Two third', 'Mixture of dens', 'Two toppled pins' & 'Hashers in a bowling alley...'

...We finally arrived at the last pub, only a matter of yards away... sorry missed a couple of key words out there...'Two thousand', it's a good job that it was Britain, and Winter, else we'd have frozen to death...

...I now believe that this last part of the trail must have been planned so that Mudflaps could do a final recce on the next days trail...cunning!

(23:00) On the sixth hour of hash-mas, my scribe wrote about me...

'Plates of curry a laying', 'Streets of Leicester bring', 'Two third', 'Mixture of dens', 'Two toppled pins' & 'Hashers in a bowling alley...'

...Every time the Quorn Hash seem to have a meal in Leicester it always to be at the Akash...where else...no that wasn't a question!

...The Hashers entered the establishment in some form of intoxication, I could tell as I was pissed...this time the management took the wise precaution of situating us in the furthest, darkest corner... obviously our reputation proceeds us...

...many a delightful dish was thrust in front of us, and funnily enough most of it stayed on the table(maybe due to one member of the Norfolk Hash not being there!), the food seemed to disappear almost as fast as the time, and before we knew it, the waiters were wishing us "Good night", well I think that is what they said under their breath...

...The taxi ride home(hash home being that of Showman & Mud-sucker), seemed a very brief affair, one which I shared with Tufty, Pleasure Gnome and Wallington...not the affair, but the taxi...

(23:59) On the seventh hour of hash-mas, my scribe wrote about me...

'Glasses are a brimming', 'Plates of curry a laying', 'Streets of Leicester bring', 'Two third', 'Mixture of dens', 'Two toppled pins' & 'Hashers in a bowling alley...'

...Back at the BIGGEST den of iniquity, and the booze just carried on flowing, as did the musical laugh from what was coming a very annoying Christmas decoration...no wonder that adult don't believe in Santa Claus anymore, specially if they portray him like that...

...Most of the Hashers disappeared to watch the T.V in the other room, or that is what the rest of us thought...

ON ON  ON ON  ON ON  ON IN ➡

(01:00) On the eighth hour of hash-mas, my scribe wrote about me...
'Mudflaps a milking', 'Glasses are a brimming', 'Plates of curry a laying', 'Streets of Leicester bring', 'Two third', 'Mixture of dens', 'Two toppled pins' & 'Hashers in a bowling alley...'

...The evening, or should I say morning!, carried on with a topical discussion with Mudflaps, Rab C and Blow!, about the social decline of the modern world, personally I couldn't understand a word that they were on about, but it sounded good at the time...the graph that Mudflaps drew seemed to make it all clear and brought it to some form of perspective...modern society are 'A bunch of tits'...

(02:00) On the ninth hour of hash-mas, my scribe wrote about me...
'Hashers crashing', 'Mudflaps a milking', 'Glasses are a brimming', 'Plates of curry a laying', 'Streets of Leicester bring', 'Two third', 'Mixture of dens', 'Two toppled pins' & 'Hashers in a bowling alley...'

...For the non-intellectual amongst the group, who also couldn't understand a word that Mudflaps and Rab C was going on about, and who had earlier snuck off to the living room pretending to watch the God channel on Sky T.V, it was time to rest their weary heads...Squeez'em next to the radiator, G.P.S next to the fire (incinerator), Josh in his usual potion...on the sofa...Pleasure Gnome & Tufty in the middle of the living room floor...typical of a man after world domination...Wallington stole Lewis's bed, the hardened b'stard that he is, Whimpy & Mumbles crashed on Lewis's hard wooden floor...which seemed a bit silly, as there was a perfectly decent sofa bed next to them...

...The rest of the Hashers stayed up talking, but more importantly...drinking!

(03:00) On the tenth hour of hash-mas, my scribe wrote about me...
'Rab C a leaping', 'Hashers crashing', 'Mudflaps a milking', 'Glasses are a brimming', 'Plates of curry a laying', 'Streets of Leicester bring', 'Two third', 'Mixture of dens', 'Two toppled pins' & 'Hashers in a bowling alley...'

...Then for some reason the conversation turned from proving that Mudflaps couldn't draw graphs to lasers, and there use in modern society...at this point it seemed that Rab C was losing the argument, hence his speedy exit to the living room to crash...

...That only left the final debate...where were the rest of us going to sleep...and funnily enough we all chose the same spot...so Blow!, Mudflaps and Twonk all cuddled up together near the second warmest place...well it would be in the morning...the cooker...

(04:00) On the eleventh hour of hash-mas, my scribe wrote about me...

'Toilet overflowing', 'Rab C a leaping', 'Hashers crashing', 'Mudflaps a milking', 'Glasses are a brimming', 'Plates of curry a laying', 'Streets of Leicester bring', 'Two third', 'Mixture of dens', 'Two toppled pins' & 'Hashers in a bowling alley...'

...I was not only awoke by the constant snoring of Twonk, and the persistent tossing of Mudflaps, but mainly by the noise of rushing water, maybe I was dreaming of laying on a sun drenched beach in paradise, with a cascading waterfall...or maybe the toilet was overflowing again, because someone had forgotten to lift the handle up again...anyway back to the dream, where did I leave that...

(05:00) On the twelfth hour of hash-mas, my scribe wrote about me...

'Headaches a thumping', 'Toilet overflowing', 'Rab C a leaping', 'Hashers crashing', 'Mudflaps a milking', 'Glasses are a brimming', 'Plates of curry a laying', 'Streets of Leicester bring', 'Two third', 'Mixture of dens', 'Two toppled pins' & 'Hashers in a bowling alley...'

...well after the hour of five had finally struck, and the sound of Twonk's nasal resonance began to ring like a lullaby, and I took Mudflaps's constant elbow digging as a sign of affection, the land of nod finally loomed in front of me...but before I knew it Wet Wet Wet was knocking on the back door...but that is another story...

Run no: 226
Venue: The Test Match, West Bridgford
Hares: Mr. Logic
Scribe: Wallington

Including myself, sixteen turned out for the jolly good Test Match run! The trail was laid with flour by a very unusual tennis ball print and various marking by "Comfort"! Never before seen in my ten years of hashing. Mr. Logic must be what I call a Genius along with all the Wizard.

Within minutes of the hash run Warmers popped in a local corner shop for a large bottle of bitter to run around with. Another comfort?

The run was within the pre and post war housing area which gave us a rather old feel in it with an old fashioned hide-and-seek game: a very large loop was planted and caused Bugger, Cobblers, Mudflaps, Warmers and Virgin the Hop! Along the route were a few cat alleyways... hum, a nice feline feeling... then another mini lop, which eventually led us to an area where super luxury flats had been built. Looking very impressive too, giving us that young feel again away from the old drab.

We finally found the beer stop at the edge of the park which vitalised us all. Still, half a dozen of us decided to take a short cut to the pub (no name of course). only to find Barritone and his fellow men had beaten us to it.

The pub itself is weird, with entry at a hotel styled swivel door, theatre like high ceiling with a grand stairway off, along with art deco bar and furniture. It was all as if it was locked in a time warp, not to mention the two barmen must be the slowest bar servers in the world! As we were all gasping for a drink etc. etc.....

Only Big Phut was really out of place in this 1940s era pub with him wearing a brightly decorated yellow toilet seat with Quorn logo around his neck.

Down downs to	Mudflaps	- for being a pig!
	Big Phut	- re broken loo seat!
	Rosemary	- Visitor
	Scrooge	- Absent
	Little Boy	- His reward: Thomas the Tank Engine Advent Calendar, sweets, followed by his impressive Fizzle pop drink!
	Mr Logic	- Hare - Lemonade was not well received by him, perhaps he missed his comfort!

A blonde was sitting in on a plane to Barbados, in a business class seat with an economy class ticket. As the steward walked past, he asked her if she has a Business Class ticket. She said, "I've only got an economy class ticket, but I'm blonde, I'm beautiful and I'm intelligent, so I'm not moving". The steward was naturally a bit miffed at this, so he reported the matter to the senior steward. The senior steward promised to see what he could do, so he went up to the flaxen-haired passenger, and asked her to move to Economy Class. Again she said, "I'm blonde, I'm beautiful and I'm intelligent, so I'm not moving". The senior steward then asked the co-pilot what he should do. "I'll sort the matter out", said the co-pilot, and whispered something in the lady's ear, whereupon she immediately bolted out of her seat straight back to Economy Class. "How did you manage that?" asked the stewards aghast. "Simple", replied the co-pilot, "I told her only the back end of the plane is stopping at Barbados, the front end is going straight on to Jamaica"

Two milk bottles in the fridge.
 One says "I'm fresh"
 The other says "Well you'd better not go near me -
 I'm sterile!"

Oldie but a goldie!

CATERPILLARS
 OF PARAGUAY

For centuries the hill farming peasants of Paraguay have secretly cultivated an extraordinary caterpillar that can actually sing. Known locally as "el cantapillar", this remarkable creature can learn up to a hundred different songs before it becomes a butterfly, when it loses its amazing talent!

Warning: The life cycle of the caterpillar is 28 days. Allow 4 weeks for delivery.

NEW YEAR BASH WITH CARDIFF / MOUNTIN' SHEEP H3

Attendees: - Quorn - Tufty, Pleasure Gnome, Bugger, Cobblers (Goblin) and Lucy
Milton Keynes, Bristol Greyhounds, Surrey and 3 Germans plus hosts.
Venue Fontygary Caravan Park (Perimeter Fence of Cardiff Airport)
Date Take a wild guess!!

I was promised horizontal rain – I got rain at only 45 degrees.

This however was the only disappointment in one hell of a good bash in South Wales over New Year.

It also only rained at night, when we were safely tucked up in our beds (for the few hours between the end of the party and Teletubby Time).

The caravans were available from 26/12/97 to 2/1/98, however Quorn (and most others) arrived on 31st. This meant we'd missed the 'Charles Manson Murder Party' complete with Ketchup and Chocolate Body Paint fights on the 30th, unfortunately this was in our 'van and was hosted by the 3 Germans – Fuck Off, Gno-Gno and Maradonna. Luckily our delay in reaching SW meant they'd almost managed to wipe away the offending red & brown stuff off the walls, curtains, ceiling, bedding, carpets and beds. After we'd had a beer or two to settle in, we all got on like a van on fire.

As it's at year-end and everyone summarises everything here's the best of the rest of the best of: -

Award	Description
Catchphrase	I'll get me coat - Spaniel
Best Cocktail	Cherry Brandy & Gin – Tufty
Worst Cocktail	Chilli Vodka & Mulled Wine
Best Entrance	Old Rectum (MKH3) to our van, wearing just a small towel after a shower, to have a fag, as she wasn't allowed to in hers
Best Trail	Friday 2 nd , Penmark – included up & down a 1 in 4 hill 4 times, river crossing, loads and loads of Shiggy, Beer stop in a Pub, Free Samies in Pub after run.
Worst Trail	Thursday 1 st , From site, very long, long back checks, along dog shit covered sea wall for miles, roads, roads, but finished at cracking pub.
Best Pub	Blue Anchor (see Above)
Worst Pub	On site bar only served 1 beer and no food on New Years day. (Hence Quorn didn't eat that day)
Jailbait	Jemma
Visitor	Spaniel - to see Jemma
Theme	TELETUBBIES again – Lard Arse, Stinky Pinky, Dipshit and Poo
God Impression	Tufty for managing to get around the run on 2 nd with dry shoes, whilst I had waded in waist deep mud/water following the same trail.
Dancer	Pleasure Gnome – Tiger Feet
Abuse	Tufty for calling Whiffy (CH3 RA) 'A small Welsh bitch, An undersized Welsh Tart' in reply to 'What were Quorns' costumes supposed to be ? (4 Calling Birds)
Cross Dressers	Chippendale and Daffodildo, Camp Bar New Years Day
Innovators	MKH3 Van for arriving at party each night in different costumes, including on 1 st as Village People for a night in the Camp Bar and all wearing bin liners in different styles after being told by the owners to put the rubbish away properly.
Blow Job	Teazemaide on Phallus allegedly
Horn Job	Odd Job at 4.30 am New Years Day after the party finished.
Never a truer word said	Does my bum look big in this – Old Rectum. Yes, it will in anything
Best Bush	Ask Chippendale or Spaniel
Worst Bush	Ask Pleasure Gnome
Graffiti	On pub wall after Village People aka MKH3 had entered
Best Breakfast	Cooked by Goblin ('I think its time we had a cup of tea') on 1 st Jan, using the entire contents of the Hash food box (for 8 hashers for a week), for the 5 of us.
Worst Breakfast	German – Beer & a fag
Worst Excuse for a DD	Having a peg attached to your clothes without you realising – Bugger
Worst DD Content	Whip round of dregs to fulfil above – Bugger (mainly Diamond White and Bitter).

A new employee went to work on a building site for the first time. He picked up some overalls from the rack when a colleague accosted him. "Big Murph won't be pleased", he said, "They're his overalls". He said nothing and picked up a shovel, when someone else tapped him on the shoulder. "Big Murph won't be pleased", he said, "That's his shovel". After two hours hard graft the stop for a cuppa. However, as the New Boy reached for a mug from the shelf, he got another warning: "Big Murph won't be pleased. That's his mug". After a day of getting thoroughly pissed off with this, he saw a huge shadow go past the window. The shadow got bigger, the room got darker until eventually there was a crack of the door handle and a huge bloke walked in, nearly seven feet tall, with broad shoulders to match. However, the new recruit, holding Big Murph's shovel and dressed in his overalls was fearless - he kneed the hulk in the groin, and as he was reeling from the pain, he floored him with a left hook and stamped on him for good measure. "Big Murph won't be pleased", everybody said, "That's his brother!"

A Supposed True Finals Story

This past fall semester, at Duke University, there were two sophomores who were taking Organic Chemistry and who did pretty well on all of the quizzes and the midterms and labs, etc., such that going into the final they had a solid 'A'. These two friends were so confident going into the final that the weekend before finals week, even though the Chem final was on Monday, they decided to go up to University of Virginia and party with some friends up there. So they did this and had a great time. However, with their hangovers and everything, they overslept all day Sunday and didn't make it back to Duke until early Monday morning.

Rather than taking the final then, what they did was to find Professor Aldric after the final and explain to him why they missed the final. They told him that they went up to UVA for the weekend, and had planned to come back in time to study, but that they had a flat tire on the way back and didn't have a spare and couldn't get help for a long time and so were late getting back to campus.

Aldric thought this over and then agreed that they could make up the final on the following day. The two guys were elated and relieved. So, they studied that night and went in the next day at the time that Aldric had told them. He placed them in separate rooms and handed each of them a test booklet and told them to begin.

They looked at the first problem, which was something simple about free radical formation and was worth 5 points. "Cool" they thought, "this is going to be easy." They did that problem and then turned the page. They were unprepared, however, for what they saw on the next page.

It said: (95 points) Which tire?

A great engineering problem from a friend

A true story. A thermodynamics professor had written a take home exam for his graduate students. It had one question: "Is hell exothermic or endothermic? Support your answer with a proof." Most of the students wrote proofs of their beliefs using Boyle's Law or some variant. One student, however wrote the following:

First, we postulate that if souls exist, then they must have some mass. If they do, then a mole of souls can also have a mass. So, at what rate are souls moving into hell and at what rate are souls leaving? I think that we can safely assume that once a soul gets to hell, it will not leave. Therefore, no souls are leaving. As for souls entering hell, let's look at the different religions that exist in the world today. Some of these religions state that if you are not a member of their religion, you will go to hell. Since there are more than one of these religions and people do not belong to more than one religion, we can project that all people and all souls go to hell. With birth and death rates as they are, we can expect the number of souls in hell to increase exponentially. Now, we look at the rate of change in volume in hell. Boyle's Law states that in order for the temperature and pressure in hell to stay the same, the ratio of the mass of souls and volume needs to stay constant.

#1: So, if hell is expanding at a slower rate than the rate at which souls enter hell, then the temperature and pressure in hell will increase until all hell breaks loose, meaning that hell is exothermic.

#2: Of course, if hell is expanding at a rate faster than the increase of souls in hell, then the temperature and pressure will drop until hell freezes over, meaning that hell is endothermic.

So which is it? If we accept the postulate given me by Theresa Banyan during Freshman year "that it will be a cold night in hell before I sleep with you," and take into account the fact that I still have not succeeded in having sexual relations with her, then #2 cannot be true. Therefore, hell is exothermic.

This student got the only A.

Lateral thinking problems...

1. A man walks into a pub, puts £2 on the bar and asks for a pint of bitter. The barman says "We've got Pedigree or Bass, which do you want?" "Pedigree" replies the customer.
Half an hour later another customer walks in. "Pint of bitter please" he says, putting his money on the bar. Despite the fact that the barman has never seen this man before, and both real ales are still on, the barman pours him a pint of Bass without asking his preference. why?
2. A car pulls up outside a hotel and immediately a man goes bankrupt. why?

D Day Run 666 Weekend June (5)/6/7th 1998

Essex H3 Go Over the Top!

Come and join us as Essex H3 celebrate run 666 on D Day 6th June 1998, and go over the top for a weekend of Devilry, Debauchery, and Drinking. The Essex team turn out again to welcome you to a Dazzling Hash Weekend with all the best features of the previous Essex Dos, plus a few new Delights. Registration for the weekend is from 10.00 am Saturday, after the Full Moon Prelube Friday night. There will be the Essex 666 D Day Run with trails for both the Bulls and Chickens amongst you, followed by the usual frolics in the Circle. Hash Games, Dinner, and then Disco, Dancing and more Drinking and Debauchery into the early hours. Sunday starts with cooked Breakfast, (without the queues!) and then a short recovery Hangover trail, before more Circle Activities, and Lunch. The event will wind up mid Sunday afternoon.

Re: Essex Hash House Harriers Run 666 (5)/6/7 June 1998

Dear Hasher

Just to let you know some more information about our 666 run, which is coming up in June, on the 6th of the 6th. I would greatly appreciate you passing this information on to anyone who may be interested, and if you could advertise where appropriate. I have enclosed a copy of the flyer which includes the registration form, and contact numbers.

Essex 666 will be camping at a semi-rural location in Essex, south of Chelmsford, and near to the A130. This gives good access to both the A12 and A127, and the M25 is only 15 minutes away. As it is our 666 run there will be the customary Devilry, but as June 6th is also D day, there will be a D day theme offering amongst other things Drinking, Dancing and Debauchery till the early hours.

Although the camp site will be open from Friday evening the main Registration for the 666 will be at 10.00am Saturday. There will be busses to the long and short runs, hopefully with a 'D Day Landing' and meeting up for a beer stop and for Down Downs. There will also be Hash Games on the Saturday, including, as a special, 'Helicopter Bungy Jumping'! In the evening will be a Hash Party, more Drinking, Dinner, Dancing, Disco and Hash Entertainment.

Cooked breakfast will be served on Sunday morning, before a short Hangover run through the local countryside with customary Essex H3 Beer stop. After the run will be Lunch and Down Downs, before the main event ends mid afternoon.

Accommodation will be camping in a large site, with immediate proximity to the local pub. Showers and toilet facilities will be available.

The event is initially priced at £35.00 which includes meals, transport, T-shirt, entertainment, goody bag and loads of beer coupons. The price will be held until the end of March, after which there will be a moderate price rises to £37.00 and then £40.00 after May 1st. The registration form is attached. Early registrations are actively encouraged!

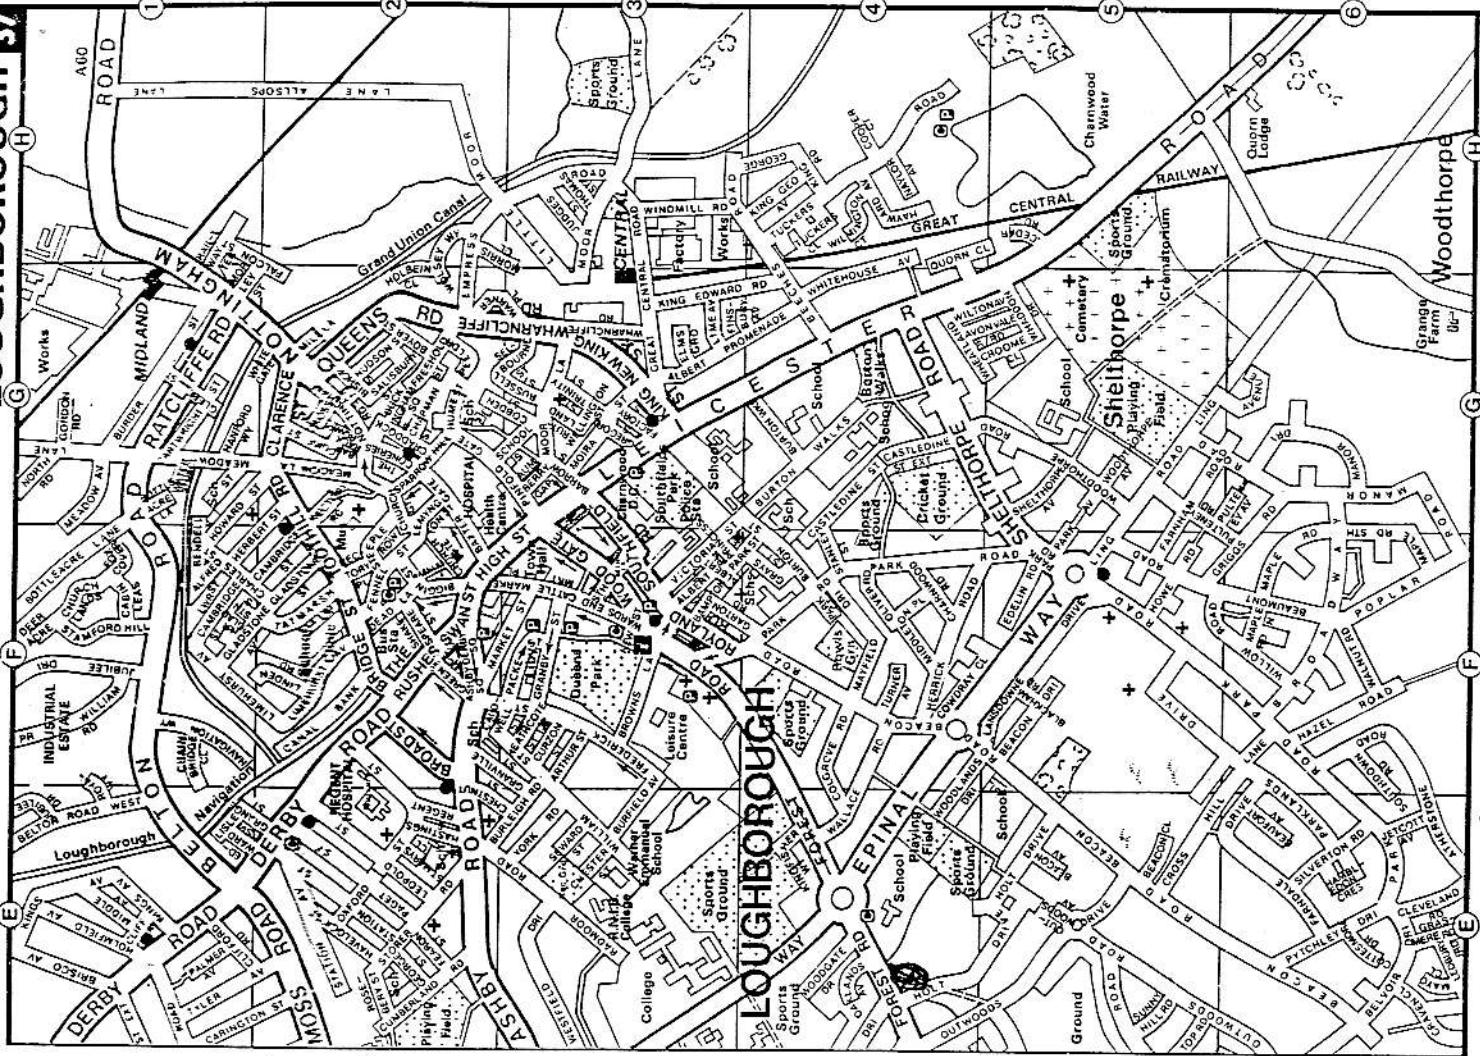

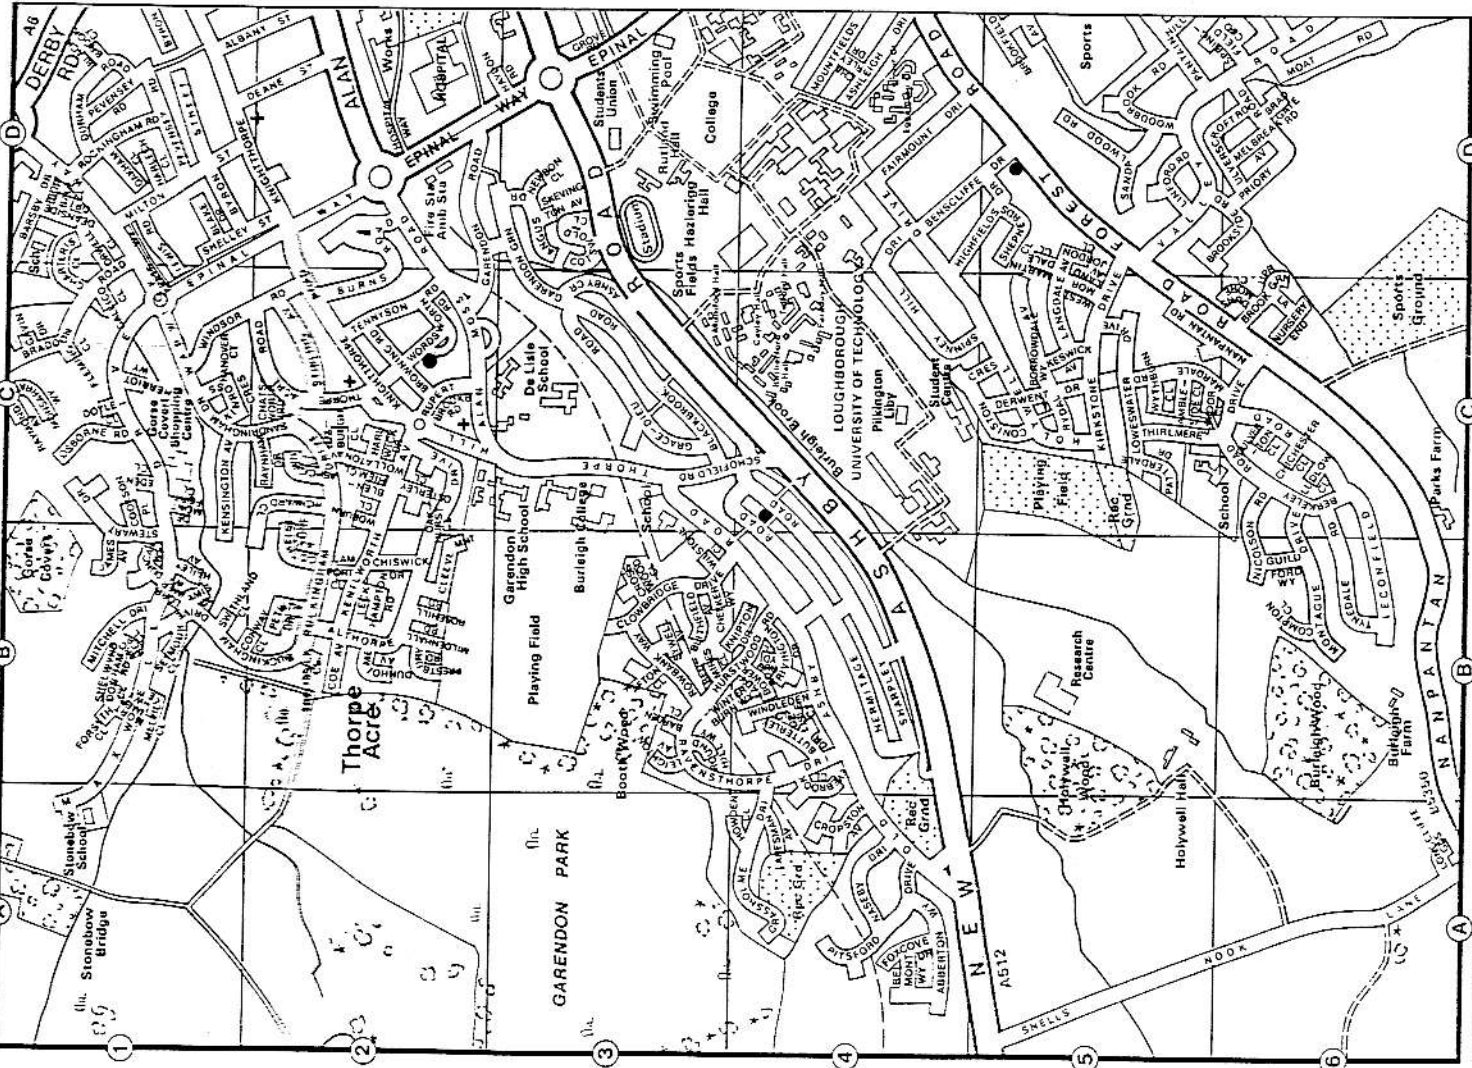

There will also be First UK Full Moon run No. 111 on the Friday night, which will act as a prelude to the main event on Saturday/Sunday. Everyone is very welcome to partake in the Full Moon run as well. The run will be the FUKFMH3 fourth Passport run, which will take in many of the sights and local hostelrys of Chelmsford. This run will start near Chelmsford BR station which is on the main line from Liverpool St station. There is an extra run fee of £5.00 for this 'run' which will be converted into beer before the pack get to the various pubs, to cut down the queuing. A bus will be put on at 6.30pm to bus everyone from the 666 site on Friday evening to the Full Moon run which will be starting at 7.00pm, and back again sometime afterwards. This will mean that those arriving on Friday night can come direct to Chelmsford and then be bussed back after the run for more drinking on site.

More details will be made available just as soon as the mismanagement get round to sorting the finer points out.

I look forward to seeing you there!

○ "Why should I apologise?" asked Darrel Hadley, manager of The Outback Inn in Waikato. "Most of our customers are students, and they all think it's a great idea. In fact, we've already had over a hundred entries."

Hadley, whose pub has launched a contest to find Waikato's filthiest student flat, has been verbally attacked by outraged landlords. "It's horrific," said a spokesman for the Waikato Association of Property Managers. "This contest is blatantly encouraging students to trash their flats. We've heard stories of tenants urinating and defecating on the carpets, leaving dead animals on their doorsteps, of floors covered in broken beer bottles, and chickens roaming freely indoors. The students in one flat locked dogs and chickens inside their flat in a bid to increase their chances of winning. Dog faeces and chicken droppings littered the flat, the walls were splattered with blood where the dogs had ripped the chickens apart, and we found a dead calf in the living room, with a carrot in its anus. The students just laughed, and said they were going to move out immediately after the contest. But they were wrong, because we evicted them there and then." (New Zealand News,
