HARES: WALLINGTON & STINGER

How would I know? Your intrepid Edit-Hare was otherwise engaged (what - something more important than a hash!) However, I'm reliably informed of the misconducts and catastrophies of the day!

(Apparently) the ragged collection of social rejects & no-hopers - i.e. the usual people - set off in the usual Quorn Hash sunshine in search of the trail! On! On! they cried as the FRB's disappeared into the first field and up to a huge shiggy! Most of the pack managed to tip-toe around - cowards! Suddenly a shriek of 'Over here - a short cut!' was heard from none other than that Hasher Supreme - Flasher. Arms waved, the voice bellowed but no-one followed! An SCB indeed!

Then it was down on all fours to negotiate the overgrown hedgerows - much like the seven dwarfs emerging from the woodlands! Soon, with the pack safely through the shrubbery it was 'Beer Stop' time. Hoorah! and pause for refreshments.

Off again with renewed energy (and beer) onwards and upwards to another field and a huge mud shiggy (nice one Wallington!) but again no-one went in! Some tried alternative routes - others just crept past it!

Later, the pack wearily entered the final stage of this Mega-Hash with a short sharp climb by way of a steep climb into the village church yard until the familiar and welcome 'On Home' sign filled the pack with a last short 'second wind' (not that sort of wind!) launching themselves into the gardens of the 'Old George' pub. Phew! What a run! What a day!

What a Wally!
