

RUN 67

LOUGHBOROUGH-CHARNWOOD WATER

SUNDAY 19TH JANUARY 1992

HARES ZUPADA & MANGO

This was the first Hash of '92 which saw new faces and the return of ELLYMAY. The weather was perfect-cold but bright. The pack eager as usual gathered to celebrate SHITFACE in print-yes!! in Today's Runner, captured negotiating a hay stack in the excellent "Farmyard Frolics", an exaggerated cross country run ideal for masochists and Hashers alike.

Anyway ON! ON! we went skirting the edge of the lake avoiding the usual Sunday morning rambblers. MICK from the Navy and international Hash fame was first to show, picking up the devious trail through the undergrowth precariously close to the water! Soon the pack was split. As we entered the Cemetery the back markers were at least 1/2 mile behind, including several walking wounded and a dog!

However, in the brilliant tradition of the Quorn Hsh, a clever false trail sent the F.R.B's miles, despite GAZUNDA'S and ELLYMAY'S attempt to deceive the pack by sitting on the bar check. A re-group commenced-off again, crossing the Great Central Railway (aah! the smell of steam and MANGO and ZUPADA reminising their childhood adventures of trips to the sea-side. If only I was old enough to remember steam!)

It was'nt long before water was reached. Naturally, first to wet himself was our own water baby GAZUNDA. In an attempt to leap across the stream he fell (or was he pushed?) WHISPER then demonstrated how by propelling himself at top speed from a position 50 yards away, the watery abyss could be straddled. What a pity the trail was false! Others with more (or less?) sense crossed by the bridge 100yards further on.

And so. with a sharp left trailed picked up by the walking backmarkers, PILS, JANE, IAN SUE and THE DOG, the pack crossed the marshy bog with varying degrees of success, although for some trying to keep dry was impossible, but what the hell! we were all safely through to the most devious "check" at the canal side, back in Loughborough's Wastelands. Much scratching of heads and waving of arms until SUTERBALL attempted to cross by stepping stones. One slip and in he went! but surprise, surprise! another false!!! Much hilarity followed and it was off again. Another cunning false trail brought the F.R.B's and the pack to the childrens playground for a quick swing/slide and whatever MANGO was doing on the rocking duck!!

Welcome to Virgin runners,
SUE, IAN, JANE and THE DOG
Also welcome to MICK, his first run with QH3

NEWLY ELECTED COMMITTEE AS FOLLOWS:-

ZUPADA	G.M
ELLYMAY	J.M.
ON SEX	MANGO
HASH CASH	WHISPERING
BEER MASTER	WALLINGTON
R.A.	SHEDLESS(BUT HE DOES'NT KNOW YET!)
HASH FLASH	WALLINGTON

IDEAS FOR RAISING MUCH NEEDED HASH FUNDS

ANY ITEM WHICH CAN BE SOLD AT A CAR BOOT SALE, PLEASE DONATE AS SOON AS POSSIBLE TO MANGO AND ZUPADA. ALL PROCEEDS FOR THE HASH TO ENABLE A NUMBER OF SPECIAL RUNS TO BE HELD DURING THE SUMMER.

See you all at the next hash

Edit-hare ELLYMAY

- The 69 er!

Be there !!