

Run No 96.

The White Horse, Shepshed

Terminology

Scribe: Barritone.

18 keen hashers were rather taken aback when confronted by what looked like an East German border guard drove into the car-park. Never mind, it was only grope-her after his trip to what used to be called the Eastern Bloc.

Well, enough of that, and we were up, up and away - literally and all. Will there ever be an end to this hill? Eventually it did, and a local woman was heard to mutter "I don't know how you have the energy for it, running and shouting at the same time" Grope-her responded by cheerfully running and shouting down a false, and several hours later was seen running and cursing back again. Meanwhile, the trail dropped down to a last-person-check, and who was last? Why Sindere, of course, together with her 33 layers.

Further on down the track, there was an inviting false trail up a rocky woody hill Temptation was too much for some, but the views were pretty spectacular, so if you didn't join us, you know what you missed.

We were warned that we were going to deviate from public footpaths at some point and, sure enough, a cunning false led us back into the woods and up a steep hill. Meanwhile towards Poacher's Corner we were accosted by an angry gamekeeper who preposterously pontificated: 'Pray, I beseech thee, hast thou informed the squire that thou should wish to use this thoroughfare?' Evidently Mango also enjoyed being raped, and there was the yellow residue of the crop to prove it. Eventually Good Moaning was seen "Coming round the Rape Field", and it was back up the hill and round the gate to the pub, though some of us took short cuts (Guess who??!!). Who should we meet at the pub, however, but Rear End and Tweedle Dee, who, after arriving at 7:35 thought "Where is everybody?". We would also like to welcome Fiona to the hash - Her first ever hash, and she enjoyed it and may well be bouncing back for more. As mad as us already??! Also John "Groveler" Shepard managed to hash for 18 years and escape the ubiquitous hash name....until tonight, that is.

Present

Doc Crippen - SCB
Josh - SCB
Terminology - Hare
Groveler - Christening
Fiona - Virgin
Rear End - Arrived 7:35!
Tweedle Dee - Arrived 7:35!

Present

Mango
Doc Crippen
Josh
Cyanose
Grove-Her
Gerry Hat-Trick
BaldyCock
Good Moaning
Shedless
Terminology
Sindere
Pigeon Shit
Barritone
Mr Spill
Bottom Time
Groveler
Jerk-off