

RUN 1048. 17th April 2022. Easter Hash Trail. Hares: Durex and Malteaser

A sunny hot Easter Day for our hash. A chocolate bunny welcome to Paul, a virgin from Scotland, (imagine that!) who was dragged along by his brother Shagulater.

The runners had hardly got past the first mile before coming to the Egg Hunt and Egg Throwing check. Borderline had a nose for hunting chocolate and managed to find the majority. Shagulater led the 'Egg Throwing' game and the spectators seemed disappointed that nobody ended up with egg on their face 😞.

The walkers split came soon after the Hash crossed the bridge into Stapleford. Whilst the walkers headed back towards the pub, the runners delighted in going up and down and round by the Hemlock Stone and Bramcote Park.

Back at the On Inn, we got a sugar high from lots of chocolate eggs and great Easter bakes from Goblin. DDs awarded to:

Locker Man for remaining true to his roots and showing foreigners how to dress for warm weather. Sandals with long socks and the colour clash of red and green offended Borderline. Borderline for staying true to his Hashing tradition and diverging from the trail set today by following his markings from almost two years ago! Using red builders paint on trees really isn't a good idea.

Barritone was awarded two DDs for being a FashionIsta and ensuring pristine hairstyle and for getting the Double Championship for Easter Hashing - He won the Easter Bonnet parade yesterday on the Birmingham Bull Moon Hash and the Egg Throwing today.

Paul received a customary Virgin welcome and almost a name as "Lord Muck", for arriving at the On Inn sitting on the back seat of a posh car chauffeured by Shagulater.

It was decided that it was a good trail and the hares were also rewarded with DDs, although Malteaser was accused of blonde tendencies for transferring a half pint beer from one glass to an identical glass. Pointless!
