Hare-Kentucky.

Kentucky.
Jetslag.
Bummer.
Too Tuff.
Pleasure Gnome.
Paxo.
Wallington.
Titty Fruity.
Barritone.

The cold grey dawn broke with heavy rain as the hardened runners gathered with great expectation & excitement. Actually thats all a load of crap, the few who turned up were sat in their cars, heaters on, & thinking of going home.

Then up came Barritone & Titty Fruity on their bikes (brave souls) so we all ventured out to form a shivering circle. Ah!! that brave lad Bummer, he's no fool, he drove his car round to join the circle (while he sat in it)-proper hasher. Pleasure Gnome was flashing off in just a sleeveless tee shirt- proper gal. The Hash was off, a bit late, but too early for Wet-Wet-Wet who arrived 3 mins later & couldn't catch the hash (how she knew it was 3 mins after we left I don't know-psyhic or what).Anyway-16 miles down the road we found the first ON & we were on the trail, tight wad that Kentucky, 2 oz of flour for the whole hash! Earlier, in the circle, our noble hare had explained that, at some point, we would find a field full of horses & another full of geese, rather than lay flour in the fields, because of the animals, we should go right in the field of horses & straight on in the field of geese. Sounds easy doesn't it, well you haven't bargained on Kentucky. We found the field of horses-no sorry they weren't horses, not real horses, well not the proper horses, well that's what Kentucky said!!!- confused, we were, never mind it all became clear in the end-I think.

After being let of a false trail over the canal the sanctity of the pub was reached, Wet-Wet-Wet greeted us from the warmth of her nice dry car, bless her.

Rapid Down Downs were administered before the hardy pack ventured home or wherever.

*Good trail - good hash - good company - thanks Kentucky.
(Lies all lies)*

Down Downs;- Kentucky- crap trail & not knowing what a horse is .

Wet-Wet-Wet- Being psychic (& late).

Bummer- Joining the circle in his car & S.C.B. whilst still in the car park.

Titty Fruity-who passed it on to Pleasure Gnome- for that 'T' shirt & puting a jumper on in the pub.
